

Axis Factory Trusteeship Is Suggested

Loudon Would Halt German Armament by Industrial Control

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP)—Establishment of international trusteeship over postwar industries of Germany and other axis nations, to prevent their rearming, was proposed tonight by Dr. Alexander Loudon, the Netherlands ambassador.

Dr. Loudon offered the proposal in an address to the defense committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Discussing the problem of what to do when the united nations have crushed the axis, Loudon said: "I do not advocate extermination or deportation; both would lower the united nations to the Germans' level."

Re-education Slow
Re-education of the German must be envisaged, he said, but that is insufficient protection for the near future. Rendering the German war potential impotent "cannot be left to the German nation nor to the German government," Dr. Loudon said, and "the heart of the problem is therefore Germany's industry."

He proposed that: The trusteeship control a majority of the capital stock of corporations and that no new capital issues, shares or bonds be offered the public of those countries unless the trusteeship obtains at least 51 per cent.

"The shares to be placed in trust might be computed to each nation on the basis of its claims. The United States would have, besides its direct claim, a great indirect claim as a consequence of lend-lease help given the allies; Britain would have a substantial claim with regard to the damage done by German bombings and the costs of years of active warfare; Poland, France, Holland and all other occupied nations would have their own claims. The total of these claims possibly will be so enormous as to exceed even the total capital value of the axis incorporated industry, mining and shipping."

Supervisory Policy
"The body of the trustees should be empowered to market the industrial products abroad, thereby creating stable employment conditions with consequent flourishing home markets."

The main policy of the trustees, Dr. Loudon said, would be "supervision of the whole axis industry so that no new rearmaments can take place."

Germans Hunt Fliers in Vain

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, March 28 (AP)—Two American fighter pilots are back with their squadron after making forced landings inside enemy lines within range of a German anti-tank gun.

When the gun opened fire, one plane managed to take off, but the other was hit by a shell. The pilot ran for cover.

The other pilot saw what had happened and knocked the anti-tank gun out, temporarily at least. He then landed and his comrades crammed himself into the plane.

But the nose wheel sank in soft sand and the plane could not be budged. So, while shells burst around them, both fliers ran to a stretch of cactus.

An enemy tank and motorcyclist came to get them, but after a long search—during which the pilots lying in the cactus heard the voices of the tank crew and cyclist—gave up the job.

The fliers hiked overland and were picked up by a British patrol.

Issue Special Stamp if Footwear Faulty

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP)—The office of price administration has authorized ration boards to grant special stamps to consumers who surrendered ration currency for shoes that later proved defective.

If a shoe proves defective and cannot be repaired, OPA said, the purchaser should obtain a signed statement from the seller so stating. Special shoe stamps will be issued only if the defective shoes are returned within 30 days after purchase.

'Insufficient Food' Denied in Kentucky

Louisville, Ky., March 28 (AP)—To rebut contentions of "insufficient food" in these parts, Kentucky State OPA Ration Officer George W. Crenshaw lived for four days on 67 cents a day and declared he "felt much better than ever before."

His diet the four days: Breakfast, an orange, two rolls, glass of milk; lunch, bean soup and milk; dinner, scrambled egg and glass of milk—plus two oranges before retiring.

42 Chaplains Listed as War Casualties

Washington, D. C., March 28 (AP)—War department records showed today 42 chaplains have become casualties or prisoners of war since December 7, 1941.

Northwestern Bell Telephone company employees have gone over the top in their Red Cross drive. Today, Robert Page (left) and Roy Pratt (center), co-captains representing the union-management committee there, report that employees had contributed cash and made pledges totaling $8,030. This is in addition to the sum recently reported for the company itself. Page, representing the Northwestern union of telephone employees, said that a number of pledges are still outstanding, and week the total contribution of $8,700.—World-Herald Photo.

Checks U. S. Worker Pay

Lists 27,684 Getting at Least $4,500

Washington, March 29 (AP)—Senator McKellar (dem., Tenn.), author of a bill to require senate confirmation of all federal job-holders receiving $4,500 or more a year, said today the pay rolls of the executive branch listed 27,684 employees in that category last October.

Their estimated annual salary was $154,900,400. At the same time, the total of all employees in the executive branch was 2,687,093, paid $3,341,630,224 a year.

In other words, McKellar said, 1.03 per cent of the employees in the executive branch was 2,687,093, over $4,500, and received 2.096 per cent of the total salaries.

The war production board led all other branches with 3,406 employees in the $4,500-or-better bracket. The war department was close behind with 3,385.

McKellar also assembled statistics showing that since President Roosevelt was sworn in on March 4, 1933, a total of 102,875 nominations have been sent to Capitol Hill. Of those, 34,626 were postmasters, 34,888 in the army, 21,764 in the navy, 4,030 in the marine corps and 7,567 in civilian posts other than postmasters.

Firm Launches 4 New Warships

Newark, N. J., March 28 (AP)—Four warships—two destroyers and twin destroyer escorts—were launched today at yards of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company to set a company record of 11 launchings in 29 days.

The destroyer escorts Levy and McConnell, first built in the company's new Port Newark yard, entered the water 15 minutes apart. It took only 10 minutes to launch the destroyers Black and Chauncey at Kearny an hour later.

The Black honors a New Jersey naval hero of the present war, Lt. Commander Hugh David Black, who died in the torpedoing of the destroyer Jacob Jones by an enemy submarine off Cape May, N. J. The Chauncey was named for the late Capt. Isaac Chauncey.

Naming of the convoy guard Levy was recommended by the Jewish War Veterans of the United States. The Levy honors the late Commodore Uriah P. Levy, who was credited with having the navy abolish floggings in 1850. The McConnell bears the name of Capt. Riley Franklin McConnell.

Town Tattler

By Jake Rachman

Mrs. A. R. Burnite's hobby is collecting flags of various nations and she now has more than were used in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" . . . At her home, in suitable standards she has 53 silk flags of as many nations, all the same size, four by eight inches . . . She started the hobby because she is interested in people, and flags, to quote her, represent people . . . Seventy students of the seventh grade, Lathrop school, attended "Yankee Doodle Dandy" in a body Saturday . . . Ernie Williams, proprietor of the Atlantic hotel, Atlantic, Ia., has the right idea . . . On every envelope that leaves his place he stamps "Hello American! Keep 'Em Flying. Buy War Stamps and Bonds" . . . An Omaha woman who lives in the Park avenue sector tells about another street car smoking incident: "A man boarded a Park East car smoking a cigaret. He sat behind me and the motorman looked around with disapproval. The man paid no attention. The motorman stopped the car, walked back and the passenger threw away the cigaret. I thanked the motorman when I left the car and he said, 'You will always see that happen if you are riding with me when a passenger is smoking.' The motorman was polite and good natured" . . . There is this to the car smoking proposition . . . It's a very small space for a lot of people crowded together and smoking is a real annoyance to many of them.

Mrs. Anna Jorgensen, 2406 North Thirty-third street, says that the sacred lilies we've been reporting are mere "pups" to one her bulb has produced the past two years. The stalk right now stands nearly 68 inches and the bulb weighed nine pounds when they dug it up last fall. This is a most interesting subject and we wonder how tall these lilies can grow, and also, has anyone a taller flower of the same species? . . . The blossom grew with great rapidity. On February 20 it measured 43 inches, and the next day had jumped to 50 with a measurement of 56 the day afterward and reached 50 on the 23d. The bloom is now more than a foot in diameter.

It was in the cards that Violet Carlson, Omaha's super-comedian-comedian musical comedy and vaudeville star, would be in the war one way or another. Saturday her brother, Ernie Carlson, district commander of the American Legion, got a letter stating that she has signed up with the USO Victory Caravan and was leaving immediately for Alaska by plane. . . . She also expects to go to Iceland and Algiers, and here's the real news in her missive: She's marrying Henri Margo, a Milwaukee business man, as soon as the axis is cooled off.

The World-Herald indicated. Nearly as many were sold by mail as were bought by Omahans at the information desk on the first floor. Price is 25 cents at the counter, 30 cents by mail.

Most orders for Gardens for Victory, economy edition of a $2.50 book, have been by Omahans. The gardening guide sells for 25 cents at the counter, 35 cents by mail.

Ban Marriages
London, March 29 (AP)—The Polish telegraph agency said today German occupation authorities in Poland had forbidden men under 25 years of age and women under 22 to marry. Special German permits are required for marriage of persons above those ages, the agency reported.

Tells China's Will to Win

Mme. Chiang Speaks in Own Language

San Francisco, March 29 (AP)—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek warned today that the future of China holds great difficulties, but that her people are as determined as ever to win their war with Japan, which they have fought nearly six years.

Mme. Chiang, nearing the end of her San Francisco visit, spoke in Mandarin Sunday to an audience of 12 thousand Chinese who came from as far north as Seattle, Wash. She appeared drawn and tired as she spoke to her own people in their native language, but she was determined to continue her schedule in full detail.

She laid a wreath on the steel and granite statue of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, founder of the Chinese republic, visited Chinatown, largest in the country, and toured the harbor area.

Injures Forehead
Ward Calvert, 59, Milner hotel, was found with an injured forehead on Douglas street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth streets Sunday.

Stunt Jumper at 19; Now Packs 'Chutes

Manchester, Conn., March 28 (AP)—If the depression was responsible for the "forgotten man" the second world war has produced the "unforgettable woman."

Adeline Gray is a conspicuous example—not as a woman soldier, sailor or marine but as a licensed parachute rigger and packer.

She learned about parachutes by using them as a stunt jumper at air shows and is now using that information as head of the repair shop of the Pioneer Parachute company here.

Almost every youngster flies kites but it doesn't influence the rest of their lives as it did in Adeline's case.

Kites Started Her
"That started me," she says in a quiet, whispering voice, "and when I was 12 years old I read about Joe Crane, the famous parachute jumper, and I knew that was for me."

This from a blue-eyed blonde, who, if she ever loses her present job, could probably get another one as a model. At 19 she was the only woman licensed parachute jumper in Connecticut and, as far as she knows, still is at 25.

As one of the "Deathless Sky Devils" she used to pop out of planes at nine thousand feet, carrying a 15-pound sack of flour (that etched her descent in the sky for the benefit of the spectators) and open her chute only at two thousand feet for the glide into the home stretch.

She has made 34 such jumps and says, "I like the thrill of falling through the air."

After putting in an eight-hour day (six days a week) cleaning, sewing, folding and stowing into harnesses the parachutes that come in from civilian pilot training schools for repair, she spends the evening studying meteorology and air navigation for her private pilot's license. She flies on Sundays in a plane bought with the money she made as a stunt jumper and more prosaically as a clerk in the Oxford, Conn., 10-cent store.

She has a double purpose in going to work on a bicycle; it develops muscles (and that's what a lady parachutist needs lots of) and she doesn't know how to drive a car!
