

Colorado Governor Bans Farmer Draft; Nine on Sub Win Awards

DENVER Colorado selective service boards are pondering an order by Governor John Vivian (above) to stop drafting of farm labor in the state. The state draft director is seeking orders from Washington. (AP.)

PEARL HARBOR, T. H. In presentation to officers and men of a submarine silver stars went to (from left, front) Lieutenant-Commander C. C. Burlingame, Lieutenants T. D. Keegan and R. K. Worthington, Chief Radioman A. R. Stegall, Chief Torpedoman's Mate Robert Anderson and to Chief Machinist's Mate T. Duncan (right rear). Navy medals to others (in white), Ensign D. E. Finch, Lieutenants J. P. Bienia and K. G. Nichols. (AP Wirephoto.)

TUNISIA Safety of slit trenches is sought by United States pilots and ground crews for their mess at an advanced airport. Frequent appearance of enemy forces the men to take cover. (AP Wirephoto.)

MANCHESTER, CONN. Blond, blue-eyed Adeline Gray, who at 19 was the only licensed woman parachute jumper in Connecticut, at 25 is head of the repair shop of the Pioneer Parachute company. Here she is inspecting some of the chutes that have been repaired and are ready for rigging. (Wide World.)

ROCKVILLE, MD. Betty Mullican, 6th grade pupil at Rockville elementary school, still is puzzled as she studies a globe. Betty wrote to the Washington Post, asking, among other things, how the world started, how it changed, how it actually is now and how we can best leave it for others. (AP Wirephoto.)

LOS ANGELES Rotund Private Ned Booth, who is a comedy dancer in the soldier play, "Hey, Rookie," selects a costume for his spring dance number in the show. The revue promises to give Irving Berlin's "This Is the Army" a close battle for popularity. It is well past its 20th week of sellouts and has grossed more than $230,000 for the Fort MacArthur athletic fund. (Wide World.)

ALGERIA Stones are used to hold in place a camouflage net covering a vantage point at an advanced bomber base in Algeria known as the traffic control tower. Built to command a view of the airfield from the top of Suicide hill, it has a stairway cut into the earth, its steps banked with gasoline cans. A glass gun turret is at right. The hill is close to the border of Tunisia where armies of four nations are fighting. (AP Wirephoto.)

SAN FRANCISCO An $11,000 check, $10,000 from Portland and $1000 from Salem, Or., was presented here Saturday to Madame Chiang Kai-Shek through her nephew, L. K. Kung. Left to right: Jesse J. Gard, Portland banker; Silwing P. C. Au, Portland Chinese consul; Kung, and Ferdinand Smith of Portland united war fund. (AP Wirephoto.)